A Tradition of Excellence: Thomas Edison State College

Thomas Edison State College, one of America's preeminent educational institutions, provides flexible, high-quality, collegiate learning opportunities for self-directed adults. Cited as "one of the brighter stars of higher learning" by The New York Times and one of the top 20 colleges and universities in the nation in the use of technology to create learning opportunities for adults by Forbes magazine, Thomas Edison State College enables adults to build on their past achievements as a bridge to their future success.

The College offers the highest quality education to adults who have the inspiration, self-discipline and energy to complete a college degree despite the many conflicting demands of career, family and community. Founded in 1972, this world-renowned institution offers 17 associate, baccalaureate and master's degrees in more than 100 areas of study. Thomas Edison State College provides adults from every state in the United States and 74 countries throughout the world with a wide variety of ways to complete a quality degree.

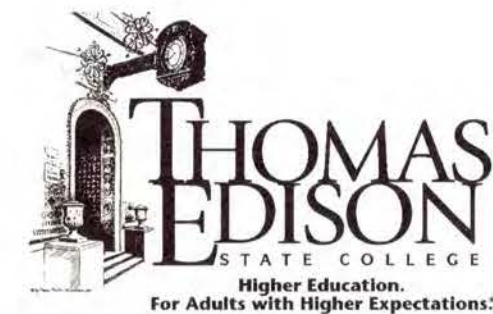

The College, its leadership and programs are a tribute to its illustrious history. The College's Kelsey Building is recognized as one of the most important visual landmarks of the Trenton, N.J., State House Historic District, which is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Originally built by Henry Cooper Kelsey, a banker and politician with an appreciation for the arts, the Kelsey Building is a memorial to his wife, Prudence Townsend Kelsey, who died in 1904. The building was dedicated in 1911 as the School for Industrial Arts. In 1979, when Thomas Edison State College was looking to move from office space it had outgrown in the Forrestal Center outside of Princeton, N.J., the state was looking for an appropriate tenant for the landmark Kelsey Building, while the city sought to preserve the building's historic use as a school. All three concerns were brought together when state Senate President Joseph P. Merlino persuaded Gov. Brendan T. Byrne that, along with five adjoining townhouses, the Kelsey Building was ideal for College expansion.

Today, Thomas Edison State College's presence has expanded throughout the capital city. The College's campus comprises the Kelsey Building at 101 W. State St., and the five restored 19th-century townhouses adjacent to the Kelsey Building; the Academic Center at 167 W. Hanover St., the Kuser Mansion (home of The John S. Watson Institute for Public Policy) at 315 W. State St.; and the newest addition, the Canal Banks Building at 221 W. Hanover St. In January 2005, Thomas Edison State College, along with the state of New Jersey and Nexus Properties, Incorporated, embarked on the development of a new 35,000 square foot facility to house Thomas Edison State College employees. The College took occupancy of the building in December 2005. The Canal Banks Building, the College's newest facility not only affords additional space to support Thomas Edison State College staff but also enhances the College's presence in Trenton and supports the technology required to provide high-quality learning opportunities to adults at a distance. Located less than one block west of the College's Academic Center on Hanover Street, the Canal Banks Building is situated alongside the historic Delaware and Raritan Canal. This new addition to the College's campus provides easy access for College employees, students, alumni and the general public who will be utilizing this facility.

Thomas Edison State College, however, is not contained by bricks and mortar. The College's reach is felt by all those who strive to create a better future for themselves and for their communities. In the true spirit of inspiration and innovation, Thomas Edison State College will continue to reinvent the future of higher education throughout the new millennium.

+ Regina Sanchez-Porter Award

Acknowledgments

The staff of the College wishes to thank Princeton Pro Musica, Frances Slade, director; and Michael Diorio, organist, for the musical presentations during the ceremony.

Arnold Fletcher Award

The Arnold Fletcher Award recognizes Thomas Edison State College baccalaureate graduates for exceptional achievement in nontraditional learning. Students selected for this award have demonstrated excellence in having earned a minimum of 90 credits using one or more of the innovative learning modes recognized by the College.

The award is named in honor of Dr. Arnold Fletcher, vice president for Academic Affairs from 1973-1983. Students who are recipients of the Arnold Fletcher Award are noted with an * by their names in this Program.

Graduates wearing the gold double honor cords are the Arnold Fletcher Award recipients.

Alpha Sigma Lambda National Honor Society

Alpha Sigma Lambda National Honor Society was founded in 1945 to recognize adult students in higher education who have achieved academic excellence while fulfilling the many responsibilities of family, work and community services. The Thomas Edison State College Lambda Tau Chapter was established in 1997, the 25th anniversary of the College's founding. Students who have been inducted into the Alpha Sigma Lambda National Honor Society are noted with a • by their names in this Program.

Graduates wearing the garnet and gold honor cords are the Alpha Sigma Lambda Honor Graduates.

Thomas Edison State College Honor Society of Nursing

The Thomas Edison State College Honor Society of Nursing was founded in 2005 to recognize superior academic achievement and the development of leadership qualities; to foster high professional standards; to encourage creative work; and to strengthen commitment to the ideals and purposes of the nursing profession. Students inducted into the Thomas Edison State College Honor Society of Nursing are noted with a ^ by their names in this Program.

Academic Heraldry: The Symbols of Learning

While the current code concerning the types of academic regalia to be used by colleges in the United States dates from 1959, distinctive academic dress dates from the medieval universities of the eleventh and twelfth centuries. The college or university commencement procession today is a pageant, alive and bright with dress and ceremony derived from the tradition of the oldest universities.

Academic life as we know it today began in the Middle Ages—in Bologna and Paris, Oxford and Cambridge, Edinburgh, Glasgow and Louvain—first in the church, then in the guilds. The teaching guild was the Guild of the Master of Arts, where the bachelor was the apprentice of the master, and the dress was color-coded and patterned according to the academic level and discipline. In the hierarchy of the academic world, the associate's degree is the modern entry point. Its equivalent in the guild of teachers was that of a junior apprentice. Twelfth-century records of Oxford University state this justification for academic dress: "It is honorable and in accordance with reason that clerks to whom God has given an advantage of the lay folk in their adornments within, should likewise differ from the lay folk outwardly in dress."

There are three principal features of academic dress: the gown, the cap and the hood. Their design and heraldry were, from as early as the eleventh and twelfth centuries in the great European universities, the outward sign of the bringing together of students and privileged persons under the same discipline.

To preserve their dignity and meaning, it early became necessary for these universities to set rules for academic dress. American universities agreed on a system in 1895 and set up a suitable code of academic dress for the colleges and universities of the United States. In 1932, and again in 1959, the American Council on Education revised the code that, for the most part, governs the style of academic dress today.

THE GOWN. The flowing gown comes from the twelfth century. Many think it was worn in olden times as protection against the cold of unheated buildings. It has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it completely covers any dress of rank or social standing. The associate's degree gown is grey. The gown is black for all degrees above the associate's, with pointed sleeves for the bachelor's degree; oblong sleeves for the master's degree; and bell-shaped sleeves for the doctor's degree. For the bachelor's and master's degree, the gown has no trimmings. For the doctor's degree, it is faced down the front with velvet and has three bars of velvet across the sleeves in the color distinctive of the faculty or discipline to which the degree pertains. More recently, the official colors of Thomas Edison State College, burgundy and cream, have been used in the gown and its decorations.

THE CAP. When Roman law freed a slave, he won the privilege of wearing a cap. Thus, the academic cap is a sign of freedom of scholarship and the responsibility and dignity with which scholarship endows the wearer. Old poetry records the cap of scholarship as square to symbolize the book, although some authorities claim that the mortar board is the symbol of the masons, a privileged guild. The color of the tassel on the cap denotes the discipline. The associate's cap is grey. Caps for master's and doctor's degrees are often black, but may appear in other colors, as well, depending on the rest of the regalia.

THE HOOD. Almost all of the students and faculty in the medieval universities were clerics (minor church ecclesiastics) and were tonsured (i.e., had shaved heads), and the hood served to cover the shaved head from the cold of unheated buildings. Eventually, the hood was superseded by the skull cap and evolved into a headdress more or less like those in use today. Heraldically, the hood is an inverted shield with one or more chevrons of a secondary color on the ground of the primary color of the college. The color of the facing of the hood denotes the discipline represented by the degree; the color of the lining of the hood designates the college or university from which the degree was granted.

THE MACE. The mace—a heavy staff or club fashioned entirely of metal with a metal head—was originally a weapon of war. In the sixteenth century, it became a ceremonial standard and a scepter of office. It resembled the original weapon and was carried before officials at ceremonial occasions. A mace is still in use in the British House of Commons, where it lies upon the table before the speaker as a symbol of the authority of the House.

The mace of Thomas Edison State College was designed by the College and was inaugurated as the scepter of office at the October 1990 Commencement ceremony. It is a solid maple scepter with a two-sided medallion mounted to the head by a brass collar. There are three brass bands on the shaft, upon which the names of the College's three presidents and their terms are inscribed as follows: James Douglas Brown, Jr., 1972-1978; Lorraine Rose Matusak, 1979-1982; and George A. Pruitt, 1982-present. The mace shaft and base are finished in mahogany.

Carried in the procession by the president of the Academic Council, the mace symbolizes the authority of the Office of the President.

Honorary Degree Recipient Pamela J. Tate President and CEO Council for Adult and Experiential Learning (CAEL)

Pamela J. Tate has been president of the Council for Adult and Experiential Learning (CAEL) since 1990. CAEL is a national nonprofit educational organization committed to expanding lifelong learning opportunities for adults and advancing experiential learning and its assessment. As president of CAEL, she has led the organization's growth and involvement in public policy, workforce education services for employers and adult learners, and systematic change in higher education. She is nationally recognized for her work in facilitating workforce education and training programs among educational institutions, business, labor and government, and for her efforts in assisting colleges and universities to develop systems of prior learning assessment and quality assurance in adult learning programs.

In addition to other professional activities, she serves or has served on the Board of the National Center on Adult Learning, the Board of the American Council on Education's External Diploma Program, and the North Central Association's Task Force on Adult Degree Programs and Prior Learning Assessment. She has also served on the Executive Committee that guided the creation of the W. K. Kellogg Foundation-funded Commission for a Nation of Lifelong Learners.

She graduated from the University of Illinois at Champaign with master's degrees in both English and journalism, and has completed doctoral course work at the Annenberg School of Communications of the University of Pennsylvania.

Response for Graduates

Ernest Wooden Jr., BSBA '06, MSM, '07

Ernest Wooden Jr., recipient of a Master of Science in Management degree, will deliver the Response for Graduates address. He was selected for the honor because he embodies the ultimate accomplishment made possible when distance learning in a higher education setting meets a knowledge-hungry busy executive. With an insatiable curiosity for learning and leading a busy and active adult life, Wooden found that Thomas Edison State College's educational format was ideal to help him realize his goals. He has satisfied the requirements of the Master of Science in Management degree through a combination of disciplined time management and a laser-like focus on finishing his education on the doctoral level.

Wooden, whose primary job is that of a father of four adult children and three grandchildren, also holds down the role of executive vice president of Hilton Hotel Corporation's Global Brands. With more than 30 years of hotel operating experience, his role of leading the global growth and development of Hilton's household brands in 85 countries around the world (including The Waldorf Astoria Collection, Hilton, Hilton Garden Inns, Doubletree, Embassy Suites, Conrad Hotels and Resorts, Homewood by Hilton and Hampton Inns and Suites) is measured by a portfolio which boasts revenues in excess of $9 billion. Wooden is a key member of Hilton's senior management team responsible for many of its key strategies and initiatives.

Responsible for implementing Hilton's global strategy of growing its nine "best in class" stable of brands around the world, Wooden leads a team charged with implementing Hilton Hotel Corporation's growth strategy in India, China, Western Europe and seven global market centers representing more than 80 percent of the world's population. Additionally, the powerful marketing engine of Hilton's guest frequency program Hilton Honors® is under his oversight which leverages the company's unique points and miles loyalty reward program.

Wooden rose through the ranks of Sheraton, Doubletree, Omni and Hilton Hotels and has "hands-on" operating and P & L experience in varying size hotels throughout the United States. His experience spans single-property, multiproperty and mixed-use hotel developments in multibrand settings. He has managed in a variety of competitive environments including suburban, urban, convention and resort markets. Augmenting his corporate experience, Wooden has had hotel franchisee experience as well as sole proprietorship interest in two successful restaurants operating on the east coast of the United States.

Wooden holds a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration (BSBA) degree in hotel/motel/restaurant management and a Master of Science in Management (MSM) degree from Thomas Edison State College, and is currently a PhD candidate from the International School of Management in Paris, France - a partner of St. John's University of New York and Temple University of Japan. Wooden is a recipient of the Thomas Edison State College Arnold Fletcher Award and currently resides in Southern California with his wife, Annice.

America, the Beautiful

Music by Samuel A. Ward ~ Words by Katherine Lee Bates

O beautiful for spacious skies
For amber waves of grain
For purple mountains' majesties
America! America!
God shed His grace on thee
And crown thy good with brotherhood
From sea to shining sea.

O beautiful for patriot dream
That sees beyond the years
Thine alabaster cities gleam
Undimmed by human tears.
America! America!
God shed His grace on thee
And crown thy good with brotherhood
From sea to shining sea.

Soldiers and Sailors' War Memorial

The Soldiers and Sailors' War Memorial on the Delaware River in downtown Trenton, N.J., has served the state capital and central New Jersey for more than 75 years. An architectural treasure listed on the National Register of Historic Places, the memorial has served as a backdrop for some of New Jersey's top tier of society, business and entertainment.

The Soldiers and Sailors' War Memorial was planned by men who believed they were commemorating the war to end all wars – the war that had made the world safe for democracy. Designed by architect William A. Klemann, the building was completed March 1, 1932. The formal opening and dedication, however, took place Jan. 19, 1932, at the second inaugural of Gov. A. Harry Moore.

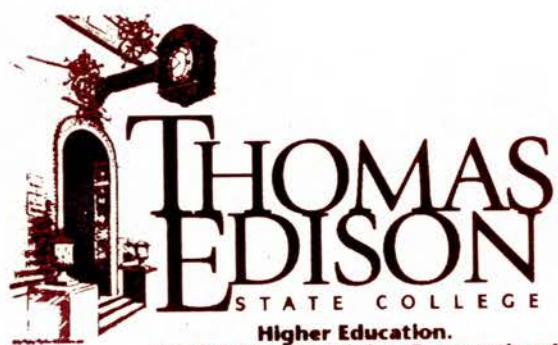

Conceived as "a great community center," the Soldiers and Sailors' War Memorial lived up to its planners' intentions from the start. The facility has been the site for the inauguration of every New Jersey governor since 1932. Three presidents of the United States have given speeches at the Soldiers and Sailors' War Memorial: Harry S Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy. As an emissary of her husband, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt also made a speech in the theater. The roster of world-class artists and entertainers who have performed in the Soldiers and Sailors' War

Memorial includes Louis Armstrong, Leonard Bernstein, Johnny Cash, Bill Cosby, Duke Ellington, Bob Hope, Vladimir Horowitz, B.B. King, the Kirov Ballet, Peter, Paul & Mary, Frank Sinatra and Bruce Springsteen.

On Jan. 12, 1988, both houses of the legislature, while gathered at the Soldiers and Sailors' War Memorial for Gov. Thomas H. Kean's State of the State address, heard a preface they hadn't expected. As he looked out over the faded auditorium, the governor proposed that New Jersey restore it. Backed by the city and county, legislation was signed by the governor in August of that year, transferring ownership to the state, with the promise that the landmark building would be brought back to its former glory.

Nearly five years of meticulous restoration and renovation brought the Soldiers and Sailors' War Memorial into the 21st century, while preserving and renewing the theater's Italian Renaissance-style elegance and grandeur. Reopened to the public in January 1999, following the $35 million restoration-renovation, the Soldiers and Sailors' War Memorial has recaptured its place as central New Jersey's finest performing arts and banquet-conference center.
